

Edward T. Pivin

Antitrust Practice Group Leader

epivin@lewisrice.com

St. Louis, MO / (314) 444-7851

Ed Pivin provides strategic litigation counsel to clients navigating complex commercial disputes, antitrust matters, and high-stakes business conflicts across industries and jurisdictions.

Ed serves as Practice Group Leader for the Antitrust practice group at Lewis Rice. He represents clients in a wide range of matters, with a focus on complex commercial litigation, including class actions, breach of contract claims, antitrust actions, and other business disputes. Ed also has experience defending and prosecuting claims involving non-competition agreements, as well as representing clients in products liability, intellectual property, chemical exposure, and employment discrimination cases.

He has participated in the successful defense and prosecution of matters in state and federal courts and in arbitration across Missouri, Illinois, and other jurisdictions nationwide. His clients include individuals, family-owned businesses, banks, healthcare companies, financial services firms, and manufacturers and distributors of various products.

In every matter, Ed works diligently to identify and master the factual and legal issues at hand, advocating thoroughly for his clients' interests while providing strategic and practical guidance to reach favorable resolutions.

Ed was selected by his peers for inclusion in Missouri & Kansas Rising Stars® 2021.
