Greg Beekman is a trusted advisor to commercial enterprises and financial institutions, guiding clients through complex real estate and corporate transactions with deep industry knowledge and practical insight.

Greg focuses his practice on real estate, business law, corporate finance, and mergers and acquisitions. His extensive experience allows him to support clients throughout the acquisition, financing, and development of commercial and industrial facilities. Greg represents both privately held and publicly traded businesses in a wide range of corporate transactions, including asset sales and acquisitions, mergers, debt and equity offerings, and recapitalizations.

His clients include major “big box” retailers, owners and tenants of office and industrial buildings, and national and regional lending institutions. Greg also advises a diverse group of commercial enterprises, such as an international architecture firm, an international chemical company, a national electrical products wholesaler, and a regional ready-mix concrete company.

A frequent speaker before attorneys and trade groups, Greg shares insights on topics including real estate, finance, and business entity structuring.
