Chief of Technology Practice Support

knoll@lewisrice.com

St. Louis, MO / (314) 444-7786

Kristen is a forward-thinking legal operations professional who blends deep industry experience with a passion for innovation and continuous learning.

With more than 20 years of experience in the legal industry, Kristen brings a unique blend of legal, educational, and technological understanding to her role. She began her career with Lewis Rice as a litigation paralegal, later stepping away to pursue a master's degree in elementary education and teach in the public school system. Her time in education reinforced her commitment to lifelong learning and inspired her career growth through continuous skill development and knowledge sharing.

Upon returning to the Firm, Kristen helped manage the Litigation Department, where she focused on managing paralegals, streamlining processes and workflow, and enhancing efficiency through technology solutions. As Chief of Technology Practice Support, Kristen collaborates across all practice groups to identify, implement, and integrate technologies that improve workflows, drive efficiency, and support the firm's strategic goals to better serve clients.

Known for her collaborative leadership style and strong understanding of both legal operations and emerging tech, Kristen plays a key role in modernizing legal service delivery and supporting attorneys and staff in adapting to change.

Kristen is an active member of the Association of Legal Administrators and the International Legal Technology Association.
