Nate Lewis advises clients on commercial real estate and corporate transactions, offering practical support across acquisitions, development, leasing, and mergers.

Nate is an associate in the Corporate Department of Lewis Rice. His practice includes general business and transactional law, with a focus on commercial real estate and mergers and acquisitions.

In his commercial real estate work, Nate assists clients across a variety of industries with acquisition, sale, development, leasing, and financing transactions. His experience includes drafting and negotiating purchase and sale agreements, loan documents, leases, easements, assignments, deeds, and other closing and ancillary documents. He also reviews and analyzes title commitments, title pro formas, and surveys, and advises on land use and zoning issues. Nate frequently performs real estate diligence in connection with merger and acquisition transactions.

In his mergers and acquisitions practice, Nate conducts due diligence reviews and prepares deal documents, including disclosure schedules and closing materials.
